10 Years of trust and innovation

Termidor has been at the forefront of termite control in Australia for more than 10 years. This revolutionary product has been used to treat 200,000 Australian homes to date without a single failure and also been successfully used on more than 4 million buildings in the USA.

One of the major contributors to the success of Termidor is its unique Transfer Effect™, which allows affected termites to transfer Termidor to others via contact, grooming or exchange of food, thus infecting termites that have not even been near the Termidor-treated zone.

This assurance that the product performs is why Termidor has the confidence to offer home owners Australia's most up to date and comprehensive termite warranty.
